

I am opposed to ending regulation of broadband services. Ending regulation will lead to consolidation and the loss of independent broadband carriers, decline in level of service available to consumers, and very likely increases in price.